五、閱讀測驗。(每題4分，共16分)

"You are old, Father William," the young man said,
"And your hair has become very white;
However, you just keep standing on your head—
Do you think, at your age, it is right?"

"When I was young," Father William told his son,
"I feared it might hurt the brain;
But now I just want to have fun,
So I do it again and again."

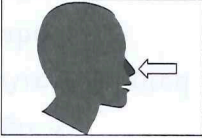

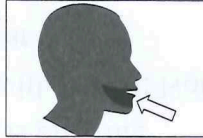

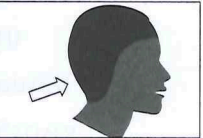

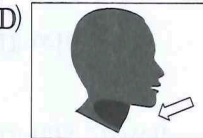

"You are old," said the son, "and your jaws are too weak
For anything harder than suet;
But you ate up the goose, with the feet and the beak—
Say, how were you able to do it?"

"When I was young," said the father, "I went into law,
And explained the law to my wife;
And all that talk gave me strong jaws.
They have lasted all of my life."

"You are old," said the son, "like I said before,
And have grown so terribly fat;
But you turned a somersault at the door—
Say, what is the reason of that?"

"I have answered many questions, and that is enough,"
Said his father; "Do not put on airs!
Do you think I can listen all day to your stuff?
Go away, or I'll kick you down the stairs!"

六、閱讀測驗。(每題3分，共15分)

A. It is said that dogs are man's best friend. When people see a cute dog, it's hard not to smile and say "Aww!" However, some dogs might not be friendly. They could attack people.

Dogs don't usually attack people. When they do, they're often scared, hurt, or trying to protect their home. Here are some helpful tips when you think a dog is going to attack you. First, stay cool. When the dog senses you're not scared, it may think you're stronger than it is. Also, don't run away. Dogs have the instinct to run after you. Most of them can run faster than you and catch you.

If a dog actually attacks you, protect your face and neck. Go see a doctor if you're hurt and remember to report the dog to the police or the animal protection office. The information may save other people.

Accidents can happen sometimes. Although it doesn't mean you have to stay away from all dogs, you should be careful when you're around them.

A.

I love dollar theaters. Tickets there are a lot cheaper than at regular movie theaters. Some dollar theaters even let you stay all day and see different movies with just one ticket. Although the movies at dollar theaters are not the latest, they're still not too old. This is why dollar theaters were very popular when I was young. I went there with my friends all the time.

Sadly, most of the dollar theaters have closed down. There are several reasons behind their demise. One of the reasons is that the theaters are often old and dirty. Because the tickets are cheap, they don't make enough money to buy better equipment. Also, when people are in the theaters all day, it's hard to keep the place clean. The other big reason is streaming. Now, it's easy to watch movies at home because of streaming services like Netflix and Disney +. Fewer people go to the movies. For these reasons, dollar theaters have closed down one by one.

How Do You Know If You're Working Out Too Much? by Thomas Smith

We all know exercise is good for our body. However, some people exercise so much that it becomes unhealthy. So, how do you know if you're working out enough or too much? Read the points below. If you experience most of them, you might have a problem.
1. You exercise even when you're sick or tired.
2. You get sick often and have trouble getting fully well again.
3. You exercise after you eat to make yourself feel better.
4. You exercise alone because you think other people slow you down.
5. You feel "good" when you exercise; you feel "terrible" when you don't.
6. You get really angry when something stops you from exercising.

I had problems with exercise before. Working out didn't help me stay healthy; it made me feel terrible. Now, I don't use "work out" or "exercise" to talk about what I do; I like to say "move my body." I let my body decide whether to take a rest, go to a dance class, or jump into the pool. I want to help others do the same in their own life. If your exercise is making you tired, and you feel like you're never good enough, then you need to find a way to change how you exercise. I know this can be difficult, but I also know if you keep trying, you can make big changes, and things will work out fine.

unhealthy 不健康的 point 要點

- () 1. What does the writer want to say with "However, some people exercise so much that it becomes unhealthy"?

(A) We think too much and feel too little.

(B) It's OK to love something too much.

(C) Not enough exercise is bad for health.

(D) Too much of a good thing can be bad.
- () 2. Below are the meanings (意思) of "work out." What does "work out" mean in the last sentence?

work out v.

1. to find the answer to something, for example, work out the problem

2. how something ends, for example, Linda's party worked out well in the end

3. to do exercise, for example, he works out twice a week

4. to understand someone or something, for example, I can't work him out

(A) Meaning one.

(B) Meaning two.

(C) Meaning three.

(D) Meaning four.
- () 3. Which is NOT true about Thomas Smith?

(A) He doesn't exercise anymore.

(B) He worked out too much before.

(C) He tries to help other people exercise correctly.

(D) He listens to what his body wants to do.
- () 4. It hasn't been a good week for Ben. First, it rained for three days, so Ben didn't go jogging. He felt really bad about it. Then he got a cold. Although he had a fever, he still went jogging. He just couldn't stop himself from exercising.

Which points from the reading is Ben experiencing?

(A) Points two and six.

(B) Points one and five.

(C) Points two and five.

(D) Points three and four.

六、閱讀測驗。(每題4分，共20分)

A. A long time ago, there were four blind men who were good friends. All of them had one wish: to see the biggest animal on land. One day, a businessman who owned many elephants heard about their wish. He was kind enough to take one of his elephants to them and let them "see" with their hands.

The four blind men were led to different parts of the elephant. The first man, who felt the elephant's leg, said the elephant was a tree. The second man said, "No. The elephant is like a rope." The third man, who was touching the elephant's ear, shouted, "The elephant feels like a fan! It's thin, and it cools me down." Then the last man spoke with his hands on the elephant's stomach, "You are all wrong; the elephant is in fact a wall."

The four men all believed they were right and the others were wrong. Until the day they died, they still didn't know what an elephant looked like. It's too bad that they didn't put together the information they knew about the elephant to get the picture of what an elephant really looked like.

- () 1. How did the blind men see the elephant?
(A) By riding it. (B) By drawing it. (C) By smelling it. (D) By touching it.
- () 2. What can we learn from the story?
(A) Do everything you want to do before you die. (B) Things we think are true might not be the truth.
(C) A true friend is someone who will lend you a hand. (D) People make mistakes, so don't believe other people.

B. Notice

We've found some people have a bad habit of dipping their spoons into the honey jar and eating the honey from the jar. We've recorded the people who did it on the security camera. Because their saliva gets into the jar, the honey goes bad. Then we have to throw away the jar. We've already thrown away many. Please stop doing it. Please think of others—no one wants to eat your saliva! If the people don't stop doing it, the video will be shown at the company meeting next Monday.

五、閱讀測驗。(每題4分，共16分)

We can try to understand how a dog feels by looking at its face and body. Here's some useful information about dogs' body language.

- Whale Eyes: It's when a dog is looking from the corner of its eyes, so you can see the white part of its eyes. When a dog has "whale eyes," it's very possible that it's going to attack.
- Wagging Tails: People often think a dog with a wagging tail is a friendly dog, but it's not always true. Dogs also wag their tails when they're mad. However, if a dog is feeling happy, it may move its tail from side to side widely, and sometimes its bottom shakes with it.
- Showing Teeth: A happy dog's mouth is usually closed. When a dog's mouth is open, it might just be cooling its body. However, it's also possible that it's angry. Check whether it looks like it's going to jump on you. If so, it means it's getting ready to attack. Be very careful.
- Raising Ears: A dog will raise its ears when it's alert. If the ears are pulled back a little, it's trying to be friendly.

Have you ever seen a public bathroom that is 21 dark and dirty that you are afraid to go in? Now, there are bright 22 with glass walls and doors that people can see through. The reason behind this design is that, without actually going in, you can check 23 the inside is clean or not. Because of the electric current in the special glass, the glass will become opaque when the door is locked; when the door opens, people can see through the glass again. Although some people think the design is cool, there are still some 24 don't like the idea. They worry the glass may fail and the person inside the bathroom can be seen from the 25 if the power goes out. How about you? If you have the chance, 26?

Cat Saves Little Boy from Being Attacked by Neighbor's Dog

Maro is the pet cat of the Lance family in Rainbow City. Last Friday, when four-year-old Nathan Lance was riding his bike in the yard, a big dog suddenly appeared and attacked him. To protect her little owner, Maro jumped on the dog, and the dog was so scared that it ran away. Maro's action was recorded, and after the video was posted online, it became viral right away. The video has been shared around the world, and more than 16 million people have watched it. People call her a hero because of her brave action. The magic of the Internet didn't stop there; Maro has been invited to many TV shows after she became famous, a fan page was created for her, and now there's even a holiday for the hero cat. Maro is now both a hero and a star.
